Pain Medicine Physicians (London, ON, Canada)- The London Spine Centre is a group of academic spine surgeons, physical medicine specialists, and physiotherapists with a mandate to treat spinal conditions in an outpatient setting with a strong return to work/functional activity focus. We are seeking pain medicine physicians to join our group and provide excellent patient-centred interdisciplinary care to this population. Your primary role would be in providing patient consultations and pain treatment modalities, participate in case conferences, and work in an interdisciplinary setting to contribute to a return to work/functional activity care plan for these patients. Two fluoroscopic suites and ultrasound units are available on site. Academic affiliation with a research/education role is optional based upon candidate’s career goals.
